Mt. Whitney Summer Ascent 14,505 ft. via Cottonwood Pass – Pacific Crest Trail & John Muir Trail

Summer Ascent of the Highest Peak in the Lower 48 States
Eastern Sierra Nevada, Lone Pine, CA

General Description: SWS Mountain Guides on a six-day guided backpacking adventure into the heart of the Sierra Nevada high country. Including a Summit hike to the top Mt. Whitney at 14,505 feet, Mt. Whitney is the highest peak in the lower 48 states and as such is a great climb from the backside or west side of Mt. Whitney. Our adventure is a great extended backpacking hike for the beginning or intermediate backpacker who wants to climb this peak via an adventurous 6-day hike. Fantastic views plus many other peaks in the Sierra from high points along the trail. Our route is a classic 6- day adventure getting away from it all and avoiding the crowds. Spend time hiking each day and enjoying the quiet backcountry of the Sierra. We will work our way to Crabtree Meadows where we will make camp for a day hike to the summit of Mt. Whitney via the John Muir Trail. Returning to our camp in Crabtree Meadows making our way back to the trailhead at Horseshoe Meadows. Space is limited up 10 clients with a guide to client ratio of 1 to 5/6. Permits and permit fees included. Book early, permits can be limited on Mt. Whitney during the summer. Give us a call if you have any questions.

Location: Sequoia/ Kings Canyon National Parks, Mt. Whitney, Eastern Sierra Nevada

Meeting Location: SWS Office in Lone Pine, CA. at the base of Mt. Whitney

Itinerary:

Day 1: Meet at the SWS Mountain Guides Office in Lone Pine at 8:00 am, after a full pack check and issuing of gear for the hike. We will head off to the Cottonwood Pass Trailhead out of Horseshoe Meadows, a 30-minute drive.

We will have a short day of hiking to get acclimatized to the altitude and spend sometime relaxing by Chicken Springs Lake. 5 miles/ 1,500 elevation gain.
